SUES FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Mrs. McCallum Names Susie McDonald Hopkins as Co-respondent.

Heiress of Late John Sherman, of Ohio, Directly Charges Her Husband with Infidelity.

Suit for an absolute divorce and for the custody of her two children was instituted yesterday by Mrs. Mary Sherman McCallum, the adopted daughter and heiress of the late John Sherman, of Ohio. Mrs. McCallum in her bill names Susie McDonald Hopkins as a co-respondent.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum were married in this city December 12, 1894, at the Epiphany Church by the Rev. Randolph McKim. Their marriage was a social event. At that time Mr. McCallum was a stenographer employed in the Supreme Court of the United States, but later was appointed as consul at St. Gall, Switzerland.

Mrs. McCallum directly charges her husband with infidelity. In July last, while he was living at the Arlington Hotel, and names Mrs. Hopkins as the co-respondent. Mrs. McCallum asks for the custody of her two children, John Sherman McCallum, who was named after Senator Sherman, and born in December, 1885, and Cecilia Sherman McCallum, born in September, 1896.

Mrs. McCallum and her two children occupy the old Sherman residence at 1319 K street. Mr. McCallum has not resided there for several months. A rather pretty little story concerning the adoption by Senator and Mrs. Sherman of Mrs. McCallum has been current in Washington for many years.

As the story goes, the Senator and Mrs. Sherman were strolling through an orphanage one day and were attracted to a strikingly beautiful girl child, and, being childless, they made known their intention of adopting her. They were informed that the baby had a twin sister, and whoever adopted one would have to take the other.

The Shermans took both, but the prettier of the two babies died soon after. The other, the present Mrs. McCallum, was reared by the Shermans and they lavished upon her the same affection as if she were their own daughter. When Senator Sherman died he made her practically his sole heiress.

Gen. J. S. Clarkson to Retire.

It was made known in an authoritative quarter yesterday that Gen. James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, would retire from that office on January 1. The explanation was given that this arrangement was a matter of long standing, and not to be construed as reflecting on Gen. Clarkson in any way.

The main entrance of the Federal courthouse is roped off for the protection of the public while repairs are being made to the portico. The present sandstone facing, which is crumbling and has become a menace to safety, will be replaced with limestone.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE AT RELAY STATION

School Children Pay Tribute to Poet-Priest.

VIEW FATHER TABB'S BODY

Form in Line at St. Augustine's Church School and March a Mile to Do Honor to the Priest Whose Poems They Love So Well—Cover of the Coffin Removed.

A pathetic scene occurred in the main waiting room of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Relay station yesterday afternoon, when 100 children from the school of St. Augustine's Church, of Elkridge, Md., surrounded the body of their beloved blind poet-priest, Father John B. Tabb, and sang "Lead, Kindly Light," the favorite hymn of the deceased priest, who entered the church through the influence of the author of the hymn, Cardinal Newman.

The body was on the way to Richmond, Va., from Elkridge City, Md., where Father Tabb died last Friday. At Relay station it was necessary to change trains, compelling an hour's wait. The pupils of St. Augustine's Church heard that the body of the poet, whose verses constitute no minor part of their daily exercises, was at the station, and they hastened to Father Francis Doory, who conducts the school, and asked him to take them to the station.

In line of procession. Forming in line the children marched from Elkridge to Relay, a distance of one mile. At the side of the body the children recited "De Profundis," and sang the "Benedictus." Rev. P. X. McKenney, president of St. Charles College, Elkridge City, to which college Father Tabb was attached, was so impressed by the scene that he had the cover removed from the coffin in order that the boys and girls might see the body.

Previous to taking the body to the train solemn high mass was celebrated at St. Charles College. Rev. Michael Dennen, of Boston, was celebrant. Rev. F. X. McKenney, deacon; Rev. Charles Donahue, of Portsmouth, Va., subdeacon; and Bishop Corrigan and Right Rev. Donahue, of Wheeling, W. Va., were in the sanctuary.

Mass will be celebrated at the Sacred Heart Cathedral, in Richmond, to-day. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

SIGNS MEET WITH FAVOR.

Street Indicators Will Soon Be Installed on All Corners.

With such favor have the new street indicator signs, erected by the electrical department, been received that it is practically certain they will be installed on all street corners at an early date.

The signs are made of sheet metal, covered with blue enamel. The name of the street is painted in large white letters. So many complaints had been received by the electrical department of the inability of persons to distinguish street names at night on the old signs, that Walter C. Allen, superintendent, decided to install the new signs on the busiest corners. "The new signs are a great improvement over the old lettered ones," said an official in the electrical department yesterday. "and I wonder they were not installed long ago. It is difficult to read the lettering on the old signs at night, unless within a few feet of them."

MAY PARTICIPATE IN MORRILL ACTS

Citizens Organize to Obtain Needed Legislation.

G. W. UNIVERSITY RECIPIENT

Purpose is to Secure Appropriation of $50,000 to Be Given to Institution Which Provides Instruction in Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. Bill Now Before Congress.

Citizens of the District of Columbia are awakening to the view that Washington should have equal rights with the States and Territories in the Federal appropriation for the form of education prescribed by what are known as the Morrill acts. To this end a citizens' committee met and organized yesterday afternoon in the office of Commissioner Macfarland, at the Municipal Building.

The object of the committee is to secure for the District of Columbia the sum of $50,000 annually from the Federal government for the purpose of special training in agriculture and the mechanic arts.

Under the operation of the Morrill acts, $50,000 a year is given by the Federal government to each State and Territory, including Hawaii and Porto Rico, for some college or university that will provide instruction in subjects related to agricultural and the mechanic arts.

Want It in the District. An amendment to these acts, proposed by Senator Calhoun, admitting the District of Columbia to the benefits of the Morrill acts, and designating George Washington University as the local institution to receive the District's share of the appropriation and do the work, was passed by the Senate last winter.

This bill has been introduced in the present Congress, and the creation of the citizens' committee is the culmination of a movement in support of the purposes of the bill.

Commissioner Macfarland presided at yesterday's meeting, and said that as those present had responded to the invitation to join the committee for the purpose of supporting the bill, he presumed they were in favor of it, and the question therefore was one of ways and means.

Urges Immediate Action. "As Congress will meet on December 6, it is necessary the committee should get promptly to work," said Mr. Macfarland. "It is a matter of simple justice to the District, and should have been passed long ago. George Washington University is the only university doing the work which the act requires, and I do not see why it should not benefit by its provisions."

Needham, of George Washington University, made a statement as to the successful work of the institution, quoting college presidents as endorsing its high standards. He declared it was due to the university that this measure be adopted, and that it was primarily in the interest of the District of Columbia.

Will Name Committee of Eleven. On motion, Commissioner Macfarland was authorized to appoint an executive committee of eleven, which will prepare a detailed plan of action.

Those present at the meeting were Commissioner Macfarland, chairman; Commissioner West, Allen D. Albert, Jr.; Thomas H. Anderson, Ross P. Andrews, John T. Arms, Charles J. Bell, Ira E. Bennett, Emile Berliner, Henry C. Perkins, Dr. William C. Borden, Bernard M. Bridget, N. L. Burchell, C. C. Calhoun, D. J. Callahan, P. B. Chase, Meyer Cohen, Charles I. Corby, H. HUNTERS LOSE FOX TRAIL.

Sun Dries Up Moisture and Chevy Chase Hounds End Sport.

Leaving the Chevy Chase Club after breakfast yesterday morning, the master of the hunt took the fox pack to Burn Mill, Md., where they were not to work. Despite the dryness, they found a trail, but the fox escaped in the dry leaves after being run from field to cover and back.

After another unsuccessful chase the increasing warmth of the sun dried up the little remaining moisture, and the hunt ended for the day. G. H. L. Johnston, S. P. Knut, A. B. Legare, and Andrew Parker were in the party.

The Saturday afternoon hunt of the club was voted the most brilliant fixture of the season. The fifteen couples of hounds were taken to the old Pierce mill, in Rock Creek Park, where the field game at 3 o'clock. F. L. Hildekoper mounted at the meet. S. M. Nicholas came over from Baltimore. Col. George M. Dunn rode a handsome chestnut hunter, and J. A. C. Palmer was well mounted, as usual. Cornelia, his favorite, helped G. H. L. Johnston to take a prominent part in the sport.

Capt. Kelly, of the United States Engineer Corps, found great enjoyment in the hunt. Starting north from the meadow south of the mill, obstacles were soon encountered to test the skill of the riders. In a closely wooded country near Brightwood a fence delayed several of the party, and the confusing number of roads caused a separation. When the party was reunited the darkness forced the hunt to be abandoned for the day.

Staples to give one of these dinners weekly during the winter, as he is very fond of 'possum, and the one last night was the fourth of the season. Those present were Miss Cecelia Kenner, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Edwards and daughter, Messrs. E. Hege, George Barker, and James S. Groves.
